REMBRANDT SENIORS ENJOY VISIT TO MINNEAPOLIS

Rembrandt's 22 high school seniors and their chaperones, Supt. and Mrs. Carlos Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Teague traveled by bus to Minneapolis last Friday on the annual senior trip. Friday evening after dinner they attended the movie, Ben Hur. During their visit to Minneapolis they visited the Ford assembly plant and Land of Lakes Creamery where they were guests of the Creamery at lunch.

Before returning home Saturday, they spent several hours at a new shopping center.

Enroute home they had supper at Arnolds Park.

Closing Events at Rembrandt School

You have a rich heritage, Dr. Howard T. Knutson told the graduating class of 1970 of the Rembrandt school Wednesday evening and to this you must add. Each must contribute his own creative ability; don't allow yourself the luxury of wallowing in self defeat. Then, respect human ability of all kinds. Value diversity rather than conformity and be receptive to those around you. Constructive involvement is necessary for achievement. Love is necessary; that love of self that allows for only the best of each and regard for all humans. Where there is no vision, the people perish, Dr. Knutson concluded.

The processional was played by Karen Mickelson. Rev. David Ide gave the invocation. Janice Heinen gave the salutary address. The double mixed quartet sang. The valedictory address was by Valerie Haraldson. Following the address by Dr. Knutson, Mrs. Duane Rath presented the class of 1974 for diplomas of completion of the eighth grade. The eighth grade certificates were given by Donald Gibbons, president of the Rembrandt board of education. Supt. Frank Truesdell presented the class of 1970 to which Mr. Gibbons presented diplomas.

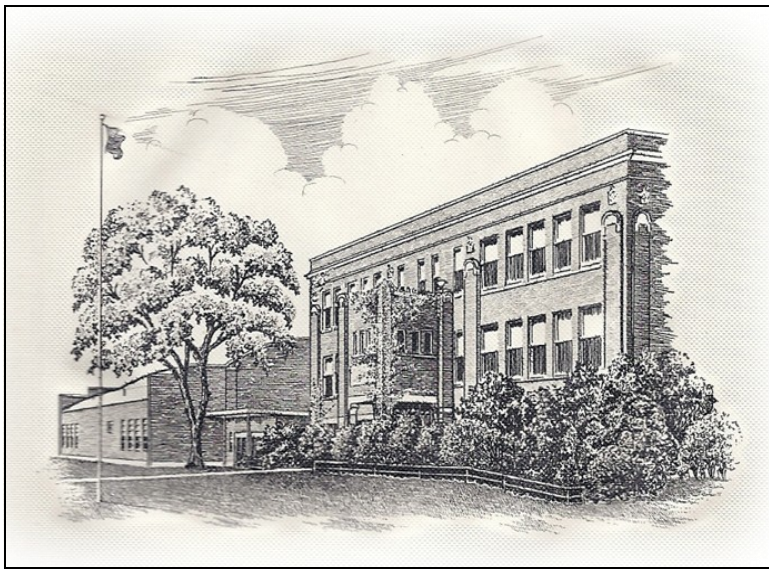

Dr. Knutson is an ex-superintendent of the former Lincoln-Lee school and of the Rembrandt school. He had been accompanied to Rembrandt by his wife, Eunice, their daughter, Kristin, who is married and has two small children and lives out of state. Their son, Karl, just recently back from the service with the infantry in Vietnam, was also present. Their other daughter, Kathy, born after they left Rembrandt, was unable to accompany them. They were soon surrounded by many old friends. Dr. Knutson is now serving as dean, college of education, University of Northern Iowa at Cedar Falls.

Many open houses in honor of graduates were held at the homes of the graduates Wednesday evening after the commencement.
